Till we understand the punishment is bitter, bad deeds are so sweet. Being a language teacher what I believe our nation was built upon literature. Here, we had a good art of telling stories. Gradually, it is deteriorating. As a result, our children are lack of creativity and sensitivity.

It has already created so many issues. As teachers, we experience it in the school and in the big society. In order to create a proud nation, We should cultivate good values among our children. Here, telling or reading a story fulfills a great task. Finally, I hope my first book for children will be an interesting story which is enshrined in their hearts.
